EXECUTIVE PROFILE

Sarbjit Singh is an Indian Spiritual Educator, Author, Motivational Speaker, International Cultural Delegate, and Founder & President of Shri Bajrang Bala Ji Trust. His professional journey spans more than two decades across higher education, cultural leadership, international representation, and institutional development. Throughout his career, he has worked to integrate education, spirituality, cultural heritage, and community engagement into a unified approach that encourages ethical leadership, responsible citizenship, and intercultural understanding.

His academic background reflects a strong interdisciplinary foundation. He completed a Master of Arts in Sociology from Kurukshetra University in 2001, followed by a Master of Arts in Music in 2003. He subsequently qualified the University Grants Commission National Eligibility Test (UGC NET) in both Sociology and Music, demonstrating academic competence across two independent disciplines.

Between 2001 and 2012, Sarbjit Singh worked as an educator and academic mentor, teaching Sociology, Music, and competitive examination subjects. His teaching philosophy extended beyond classroom instruction, encouraging conceptual understanding, analytical thinking, disciplined learning, ethical conduct, and personality development. He regarded education not merely as a means of acquiring qualifications but as a lifelong process of intellectual and moral growth.

Seeking to create broader opportunities for young artists and cultural education, he founded OCEAN – An Excellent Group of Art during 2008–2009. The organisation was established to promote Indian performing arts, cultural education, leadership development, and international cultural exchange. Through structured training and disciplined preparation, OCEAN enabled young artists to represent India's cultural heritage on international platforms with professionalism and cultural responsibility.

A defining milestone in his international journey occurred in 2010, when he led an Indian cultural delegation of approximately 15–16 artists to an international cultural festival in Belarus, where delegates from nearly 30 countries participated. As delegation leader, he coordinated preparation, travel, performances, and international engagement while presenting India's cultural traditions through public performances, road shows, and intercultural activities. The experience strengthened his understanding of cultural diplomacy and reinforced his belief that artistic exchange can build meaningful relationships between nations.

His international engagement continued through participation in the International Youth Congress in Sweden following his membership in the International Organization of Folk Art (IOV) in 2011. During this period, he also travelled through Denmark, Poland, Hungary, and Greece, gaining broader exposure to European cultural heritage, educational systems, and international dialogue.

His international experience further expanded through cultural programmes and collaborative initiatives in Turkey, Iran, Russia, the United Arab Emirates, and Oman. These engagements enhanced his understanding of intercultural communication, international cooperation, and the educational role of cultural exchange. Collectively, these experiences shaped his long-term vision of promoting peaceful dialogue through education, culture, and spiritual understanding.

Building upon his experience in education and international cultural leadership, Sarbjit Singh established Shri Bajrang Bala Ji Trust in 2025. The Trust serves as a non-profit institution dedicated to spiritual education, value-based learning, community engagement, and ethical leadership. Through regular online satsang, educational programmes, motivational initiatives, and digital outreach, the organisation seeks to make authentic spiritual knowledge accessible to individuals from diverse backgrounds while encouraging personal transformation through discipline, compassion, and responsible living.

Alongside his institutional responsibilities, Sarbjit Singh continues to develop educational content, writing projects, and digital learning initiatives. He is particularly interested in the responsible use of emerging technologies, including Artificial Intelligence, to expand access to educational and spiritual resources while preserving the authenticity of traditional knowledge.

His professional philosophy is based upon the conviction that education, culture, and spirituality are complementary dimensions of human development. He believes that institutions should empower individuals through knowledge, ethical leadership, cultural awareness, and community participation rather than focusing solely on personal achievement or institutional recognition.

Looking toward the future, Sarbjit Singh seeks meaningful collaboration with universities, research institutions, cultural organisations, international NGOs, embassies, and global educational partners interested in value-based education, intercultural dialogue, cultural preservation, and humanitarian cooperation. His long-term objective is to develop Shri Bajrang Bala Ji Trust into an internationally respected institution contributing to spiritual education, cultural understanding, and community development through responsible leadership and collaborative engagement.
